

LIGHT FOCUSING THROUGH A STRONGLY SCATTERING MEDIUM USING BINARY AMPLITUDE MODULATION

The results of an optical experiment on light focusing through a strongly scattering medium are described. The principal possibility of obtaining one and two focal spots by the use of binary amplitude modulation of incident light with the aid of a liquid crystal spatial light modulator is shown.

Primary authors: Mr DANKO, Oleksandr (National Taras Shevchenko Univ. of Kyiv); Dr KOVALENKO, Andrey (National Taras Shevchenko Univ. of Kyiv); DANKO, Volodymyr (Taras Shevchenko National University of Kyiv); Mr KOTOV, Myhailo (Taras Shevchenko National University of Kyiv)

Presenter: Mr DANKO, Oleksandr (National Taras Shevchenko Univ. of Kyiv)

Track Classification: Laser Physics and Optoelectronics